Virtual Institute study tour on trade in services for Colombian member universities
Geneva, 18-22 November 2013

PRESENTER BIOGRAPHIES UNCTAD

Alberto GABRIELE is Economic Affairs Officer in UNCTAD’s Division on International Trade in Goods and Services and Commodities. He has previously worked with the UN and other organizations, NGOs and consulting companies in Italy, Mexico, New York, Nicaragua, Cuba, Vietnam and Guinea, and has carried out missions in many other developing countries. He has published several articles and book chapters on various topics, mostly in the domain of development economics. His work mainly consists of carrying out research and technical assistance projects in the domain of trade in services and the role of services in the framework of developing countries economic and social development strategies. He holds a Laurea degree in Economics from the University of Rome and a Master degree in Economics from the London School of Economics.

Bruno Antunes is Economic Affairs Officer in UNCTAD’s Division on International Trade in Goods and Services and Commodities. He previously worked at the Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (ECLAC). His research applies trade and productive development analysis to promote sustainable economic growth. He has been involved in initiatives and projects regarding value chain analysis and competitiveness, regional integration in Latin America, with a focus on infrastructure and trade facilitation, and green growth.

Luisa Antonia Rodriguez has worked for UNCTAD for 4 years. Her work consists in doing research and training, for developing countries government officials on: i) Emerging trends in the international trading system, trade agreements and trade negotiations and ii) Policy, regulatory and institutional frameworks for services reform. Before that, she worked at the South Centre, (doing research and training on agricultural trade negotiations); in the Permanent Mission of Venezuela to the WTO (as negotiator for some issues of the Doha Round and following on implementation of some WTO agreements concerning trade in goods) and in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Venezuela (on bilateral and multilateral trade issues). She holds an MBA on International Trade, a certificate of management in International Trade and a Bachelor's degree in International Relations.

Vincent Valentine is a transport economist in charge of the Transport Section of the Division on Technology and Logistics at UNCTAD. He has more than 20 years’ experience working in the Transport Sector. He is one of the principal authors for the annual publication titled Review of Maritime Transport. He was promoted to his current position after having served in the Transport Division of the UN's regional commission in Bangkok, Thailand (UNESCAP). Prior to joining the UN he worked in the private sector negotiating settlements for a leading maritime transport insurer and then as a Lloyd's of London broker. Later he became a Senior Lecturer in international maritime commercial practice during which time he was awarded a Ph.D. for his research into port efficiency.
Noelia Garcia Nebra is Economic Affairs Officer in UNCTAD's Investment Issues Section. She joined UNCTAD in 2006, working first on FDI policy issues in the Investment Policy Reviews programme and then in the Entrepreneurship Section, where she carried out technical cooperation projects to support entrepreneurship and SMEs development. She obtained her BA in Economics from the University of Barcelona, Spain, and has a Master's degree in International Economics/International Relations from the Graduate Institute of International Relations in Geneva. As a PhD candidate in Economics, she has research and teaching experience at the university level (microeconomics, international business, competitiveness).

Diana Korka works for the ICT Analysis Section of the Division on Technology and Logistics of UNCTAD. She is member of the team responsible for drafting UNCTAD's annual Information Economy Report. She also does work on measuring Information and Communication Technologies (ICTs), including collecting and compiling official ICT statistics from national statistics offices, data analysis and regional training workshops on ICT statistics. Prior to her current assignment she worked for the International Telecommunication Union. She holds a Master degree in International Economics from the Graduate Institute of International Studies in Geneva.